

ELVIA E. CHICA CLAROS

Take every opportunity to learn something new. Imparted by her parents, Elvia Chica has taken those words of wisdom to heart. A native of El Salvador who has called Omaha “home” for more than 20 years, Elvia pursued this passion for learning by enrolling in an individual income tax course offered by a local firm.

This opportunity honed Elvia’s first-hand tax expertise. And, perhaps more importantly, she “found” her career! Even before completing high school, Elvia was offered a position as a tax preparer. While working as a tax preparer, she also worked her way through business administration studies at Bellevue University. She earned her Bachelor of Science degree in 2012.

With five years of demonstrated tax preparation and office management prowess under her belt, Elvia secured a bookkeeper/office manager position at a small business. This role provided invaluable insights into the day-to-day operations of smaller enterprises.
